

A Decentralized Protocol For Crowdsourced Advice On Financial Products, Instruments And Services.

Finnoq creates a completely new way of advice with the wisdom and power of a global community, all integrated on the blockchain.

WHAT IS FINNOQ?

The Finnoq protocol is a solution for opinions and decisions within financial markets. Finnoq creates an open source protocol for crowdsourced advice where developers have access to the Finnoq Core.

APPS ON FINNOQ CORE

Every developer can build an application on top of the Finnoq Core. The developer will be able to choose modules from the service layer. A module can be a collection of parameters or a template for rating different financial products. A module is essentially an extended functionality of the Finnoq Core. In other words, a module is the bridge between the Finnoq Core and applications. These modules can be easily used via application programming interface (API).
